Paris Faces Meat and Butter Famine

This city is experiencing an unprecedented butter famine. Retailers are unable to supply the demand for this article and at advanced prices it cannot be secured through local produce dealers. A small supply of country butter was rapidly consumed Saturday and being unable to secure creamery product, local retailers are at a loss to proceed in an effort to relieve the situation. Meat shipments to this city have been greatly delayed owing to floods in the Northern States and the supply has run so short that there is great danger of a famine in this line too. Local butchers have been compelled to slaughter cattle that were in no condition to be killed, in order to satisfy the demand of their customers.

"Rosedale" lots.

Has Narrow Escape from Death.

A small piece of stone, scarcely half the size of a brick, is responsible for saving the life of Thomas Higgins, son of Mr. C. V. Higgins, of this city, a machinist in the employ of the Louisville and Nashville railroad. Higgins was employed at the round house in the south yards in repairing a brake shoe on one of the largest patterns of freight locomotives used on the road and was beneath the huge engine with his head resting on a rail between two drivers. From some unknown cause the engine moved forward a few inches and stopped, but enough to pinion Higgins' head between them and wheel. His calls for help brought assistance and he was extricated from his perilous position. One side of his face was badly bruised and for a time he was unconscious. An examination revealed a small stone on the opposite rail beneath a drive wheel, which stopped the progress of the engine and which saved Higgins from being crushed to death.

—"County Members Day" was observed by the Woman's Club of Central Kentucky at Lexington Saturday.
Mrs. A. H. Harrison presided and there were a number of speakers.
Among the number was Mr. Quincy Ward, of this city, and the Lexington Leader of Sunday has the following of his address at the meeting:

"Then came the fine and valuable address by Hon. J. Quincy Ward, of Bourbon county, Game and Fish Warden of Kentucky. He told of the purpose of the game and fish commission and the work already done which has proved its value and claim to perpetuation, and plans to preserve the game and fish for future generations. The depletion of the State is to be deplored, but nature is so bountiful that with protection they will come back, he said. Every State in the Union except five, has a commission of this sort. Mr. Ward praised the work of the Audubon Societies and added that all organizations should work in harmony for the good of the State and the country. He expressed gratitude to the Lexington Chapter D. A. R. for building the memorial wall at Bryant Station, but regretted its present condition and hoped measures would be taken for its protection.

"The bird refuges being provided in different States, particularly those of Indiana, were described at length. A beautiful tribute was paid Mrs. Russell Sage for contributions to this work.
He also advised the study of bird life to be introduced into the school work of Kentucky. Pride was expressed in the legislative work done by the Equal Rights Associations and Federated Clubs of Kentucky and it was all prompted, the speaker said, by noble hearts and guided by refined and cultured minds of the women, 'May God bless and keep you.'

—One of the prettiest pre-nuptial entertainments that was given in honor of Miss Alleen Power, a beautiful spring bride-elect, whose marriage to Mr. Edward F. Prichard will be solemnized tomorrow evening at the Methodist church, was a luncheon livened up given by Mrs. W. O.
Hinton Saturday afternoon at her home on High street.

Invitations were not limited to the younger friends of Miss Power, but a number of ladies who have known this charming young woman since the days of her early childhood were among those who enjoyed the pleasant occasion.

At two o'clock the elaborate six course luncheon was served, which in the most minute detail was faultlessly prepared. The bride's table was in the dining room and presented a pretty picture. The mahogany table had for a centerpiece a low oval shaped mound of ferns and vari-colored hyacinths; lace mats were placed on the table, and dishes of pretty confections, all lighted with softly shaded candles and crystal candlesticks.

Seated at the table were Miss Power, Miss Hilda Threlkeld, of Mayville; Misses Nell McCoy and Bettie Barrow, of Lexington; Miss Rachel Wiggins, Miss Mary Fithian Hutchcraft, Miss Mary Woodford, Miss Sarah Power, Mrs. Amos Turney, Jr., Mrs. William B. Ardery, Mrs. Withers Davis, Mrs.
Lewis Taylor, Mrs. Charles McMillan, Mrs. White Varden and Mrs. Wade Whitley. At smaller tables having decorations of hyacinths and dishes of candy were Mrs. William Burchfield, of Pineville; Mrs. Kenner, of Mayville; Mrs. M. H. Davis, of Maylick, Mrs.
Anne Prichard, Mrs. Clail Turney, Mrs. J. S. Wilson, Mrs. M. H. Dailey, Miss Louie Bruer, Mrs. C. M. Clay, Mrs. Jesse Turney, Mrs. William Myall, Mrs. B. A. Frank, Mrs. Harry B.
Clay, Mrs. Albert Hinton and Mrs. W.
O. Hinton.

The place cards were tiny envelopes, ornamented with forget-me-nots, and containing forget-me-not seeds. The souvenirs were linen card cases, each having the guest's initials in cross-stitch in the forget-me-not colors.
After the luncheon the guests were invited to the living room where the linen gifts were suspended on four white ribbons, radiating from the chandelier and comprised everything in that line to gladden the heart of the young woman. After the gifts had been duly admired a matrimonial constitution and by-laws which had been prepared by Mrs. William B. Ardery, was read by the hostess and was later signed by the guests as witnesses.
The afternoon was indeed delightful and Mrs. Hinton received many congratulations upon the success of the beautifully planned party.

Sturdevant Claims Self Defense

Upon a charge of murdering Henry Story, a negro, Lee Sturdevant, colored, was arrested Friday evening about 6:30 o'clock at the Louisville and Nashville depot and lodged in jail by Patrolman Fred Link.

Sturdevant has been a fugitive from justice for several months. After the shooting of Story he made his escape, eluding the officers and made his way to Tennessee, where he has since been.

He claims he came to this city with a view of giving himself up to the officers and stand trial.
The negro was employed at the camp of D. B. Lacy & Son, near this city, and on the night of October 26 went to the construction camp of Hough & Spradling, near this city, where he was engaged in a crap game with a number of other negroes. Following an argument it is said by eye-witnesses to the affair that Story blew out the lamp in the house where the negroes were engaged in the game and began shooting. Two shots were fired at Sturdevant, when he drew his revolver and returned the fire. One shot took effect in Story's head, inflicting a mortal wound. He was removed to a Lexington hospital, where with a bulletin his brain he lingered for several days before he died.

When taken into custody the negro acknowledged his identity and said he had come from Tennessee to surrender to the authorities here. For about fifteen years he had been employed by the firm of Lacy & Son, and was always regarded as a peaceable negro, and one of their most valuable laborers.
He claims he acted in self defense.

Story is said to have been a desperate character and bore a bad reputation. He had been wounded eight times previous to that time and in each instance his attending physicians pronounced his wounds fatal, but each time he recovered.

The examining trial of Sturdevant will be held in the county court this afternoon at two o'clock.
